Promotional management touches many parts of the Premier Foods business

Cross-team collaboration for promotional events is now much easier

Premier Foods X acumen

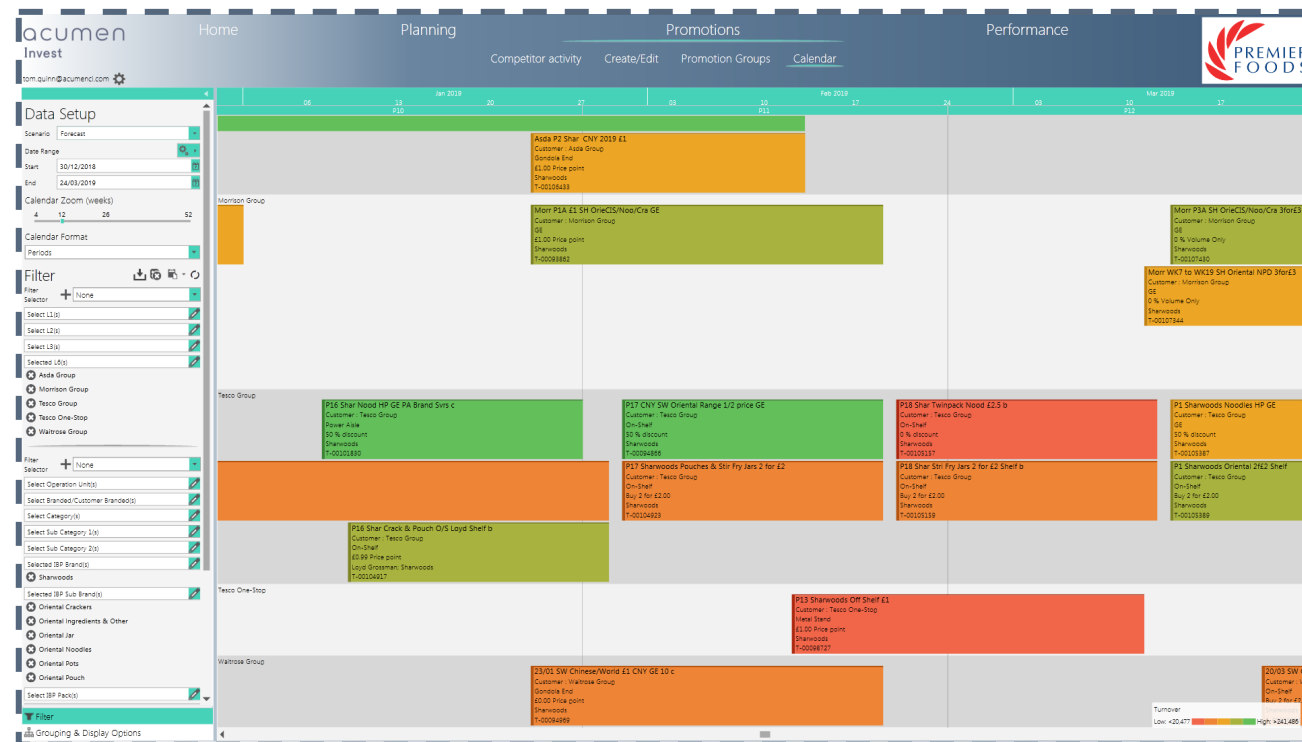

Using Acumen Invest™ as a single source of truth has driven a more efficient and effective promotional life cycle

Reviewing a specific example: Sharwood's Chinese Range during Chinese New Year

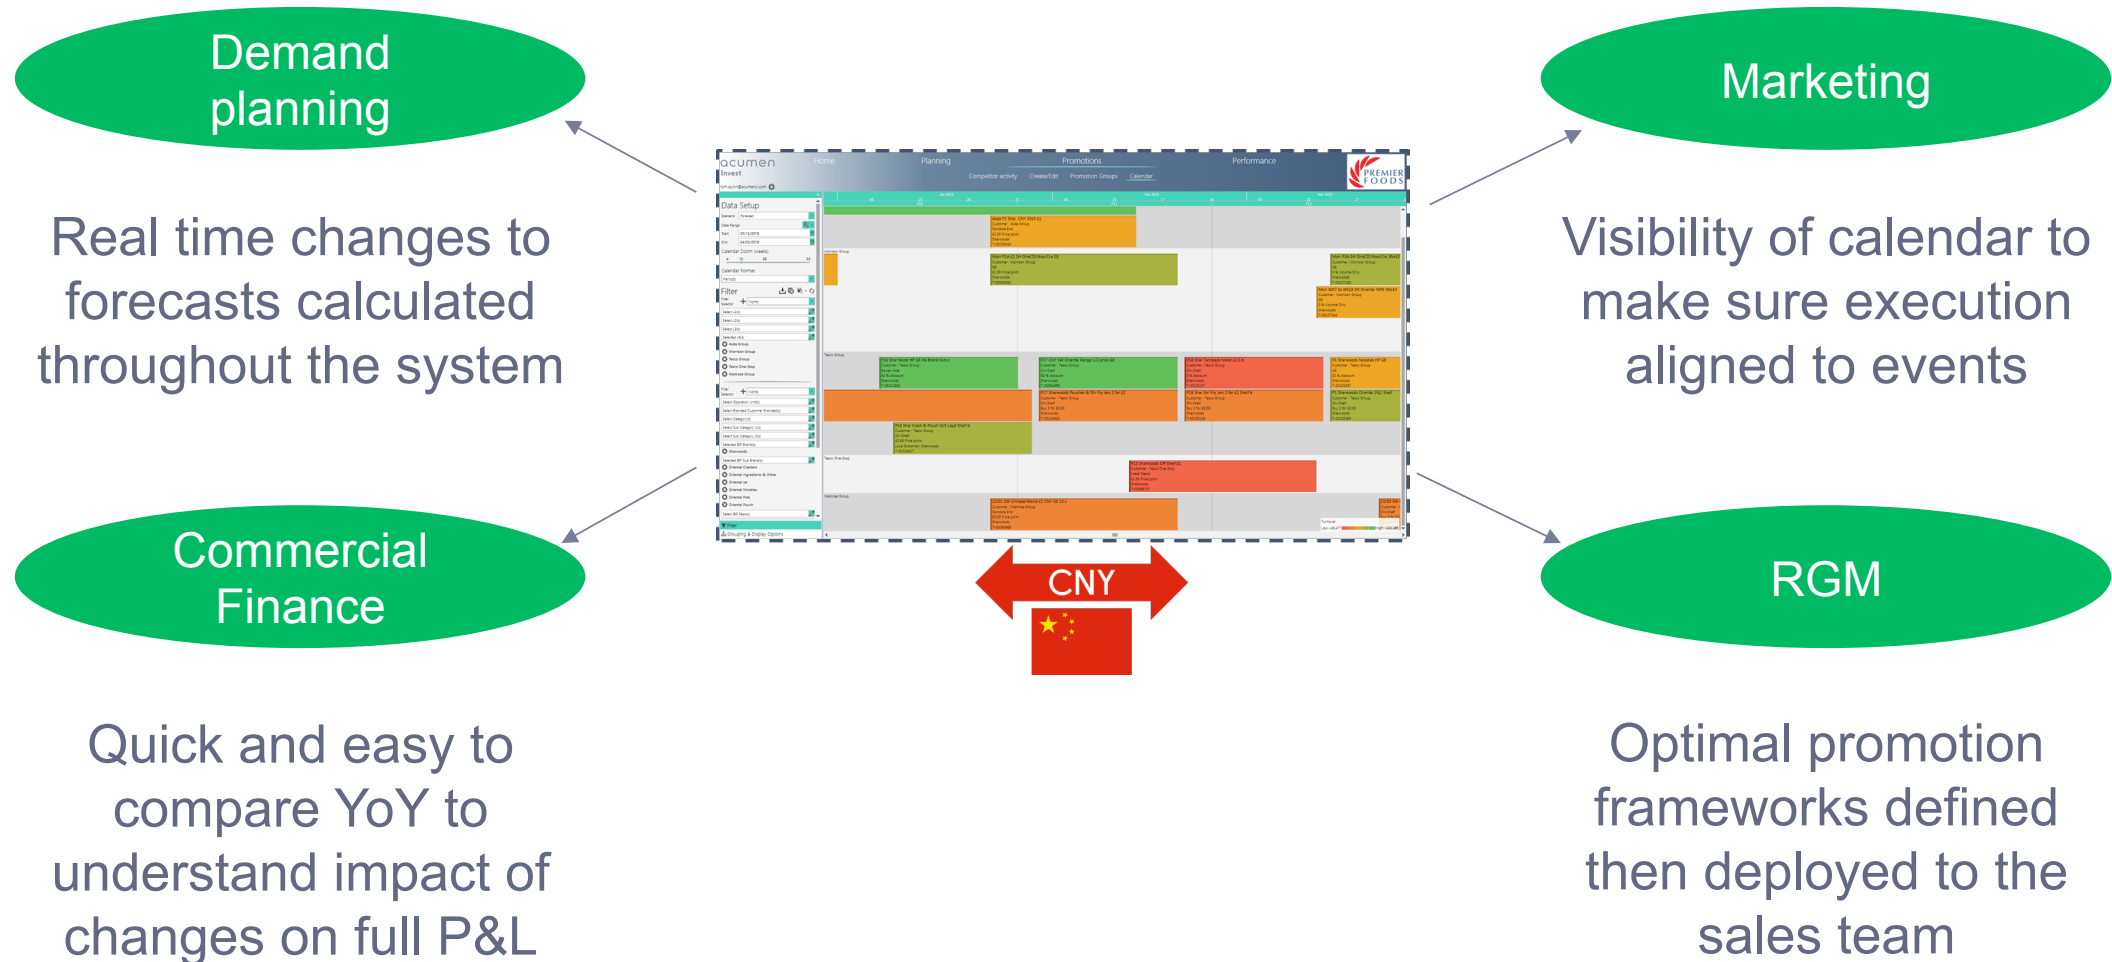

Easy to identify:

- How well aligned to key events
- Cross trade activity
- Performance vs different metrics

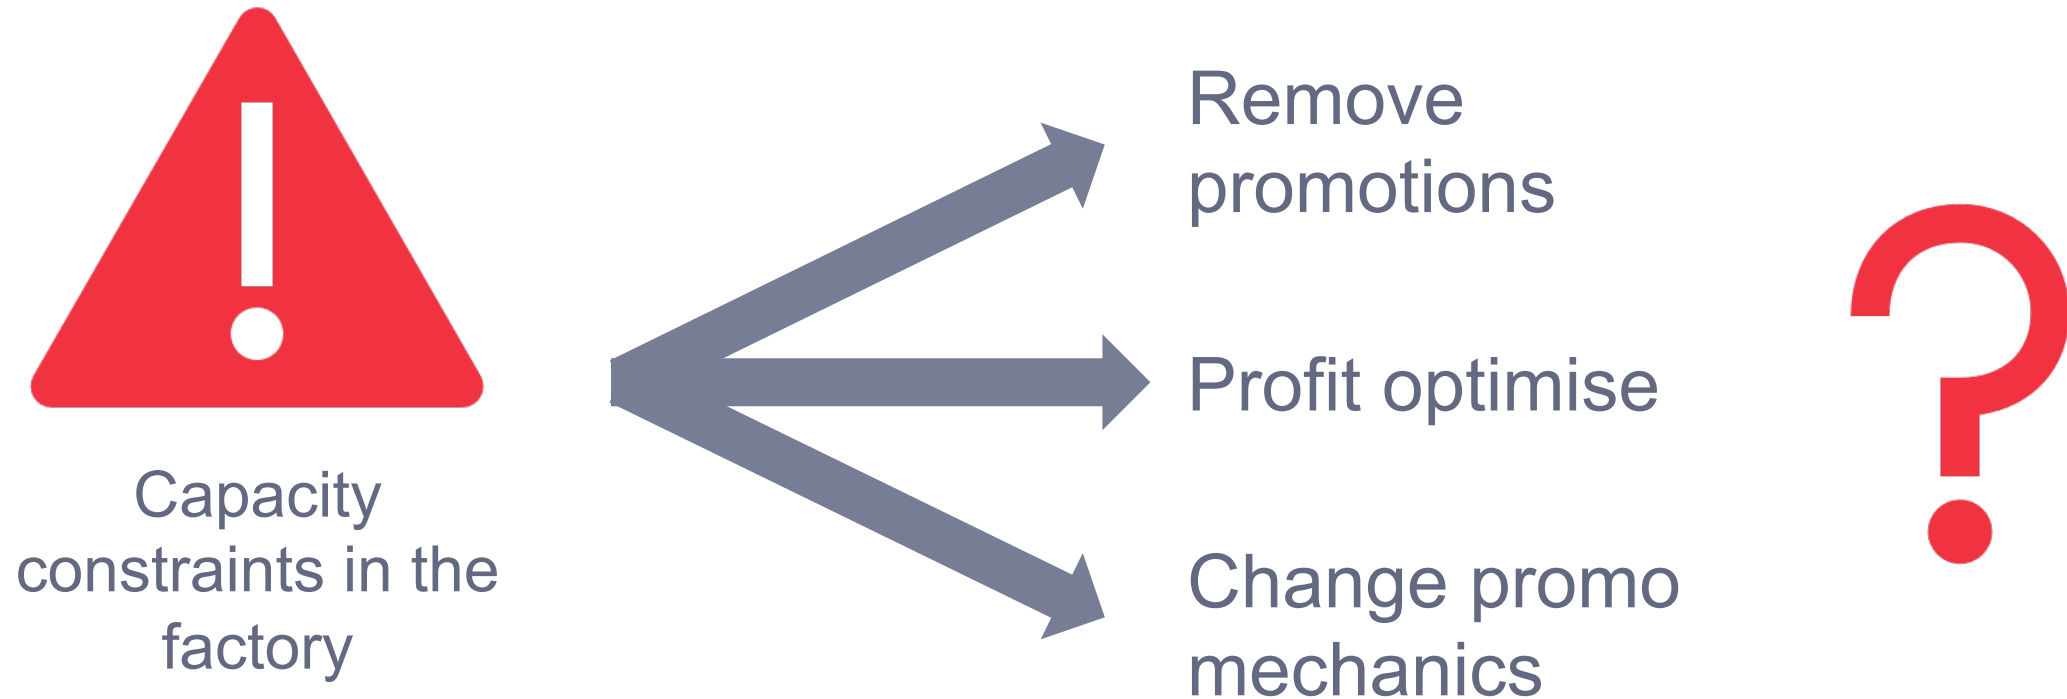

Having a single source of truth to plan specific promotional events does not just impact the sales team

When facing capacity constraints in the factory, we were able to make better decisions in a more efficient

What are we planning to do next with Invest to drive even greater returns?

Premier Foods X acumen

There are many more ways we can use Acumen Invest™ in Premier Foods across our teams

Customer facing business reviews

To increase efficiency when preparing for meetings

Best from Invest

Equip the team with further insights

Roll out to the international business

Consistent approach across the organisation

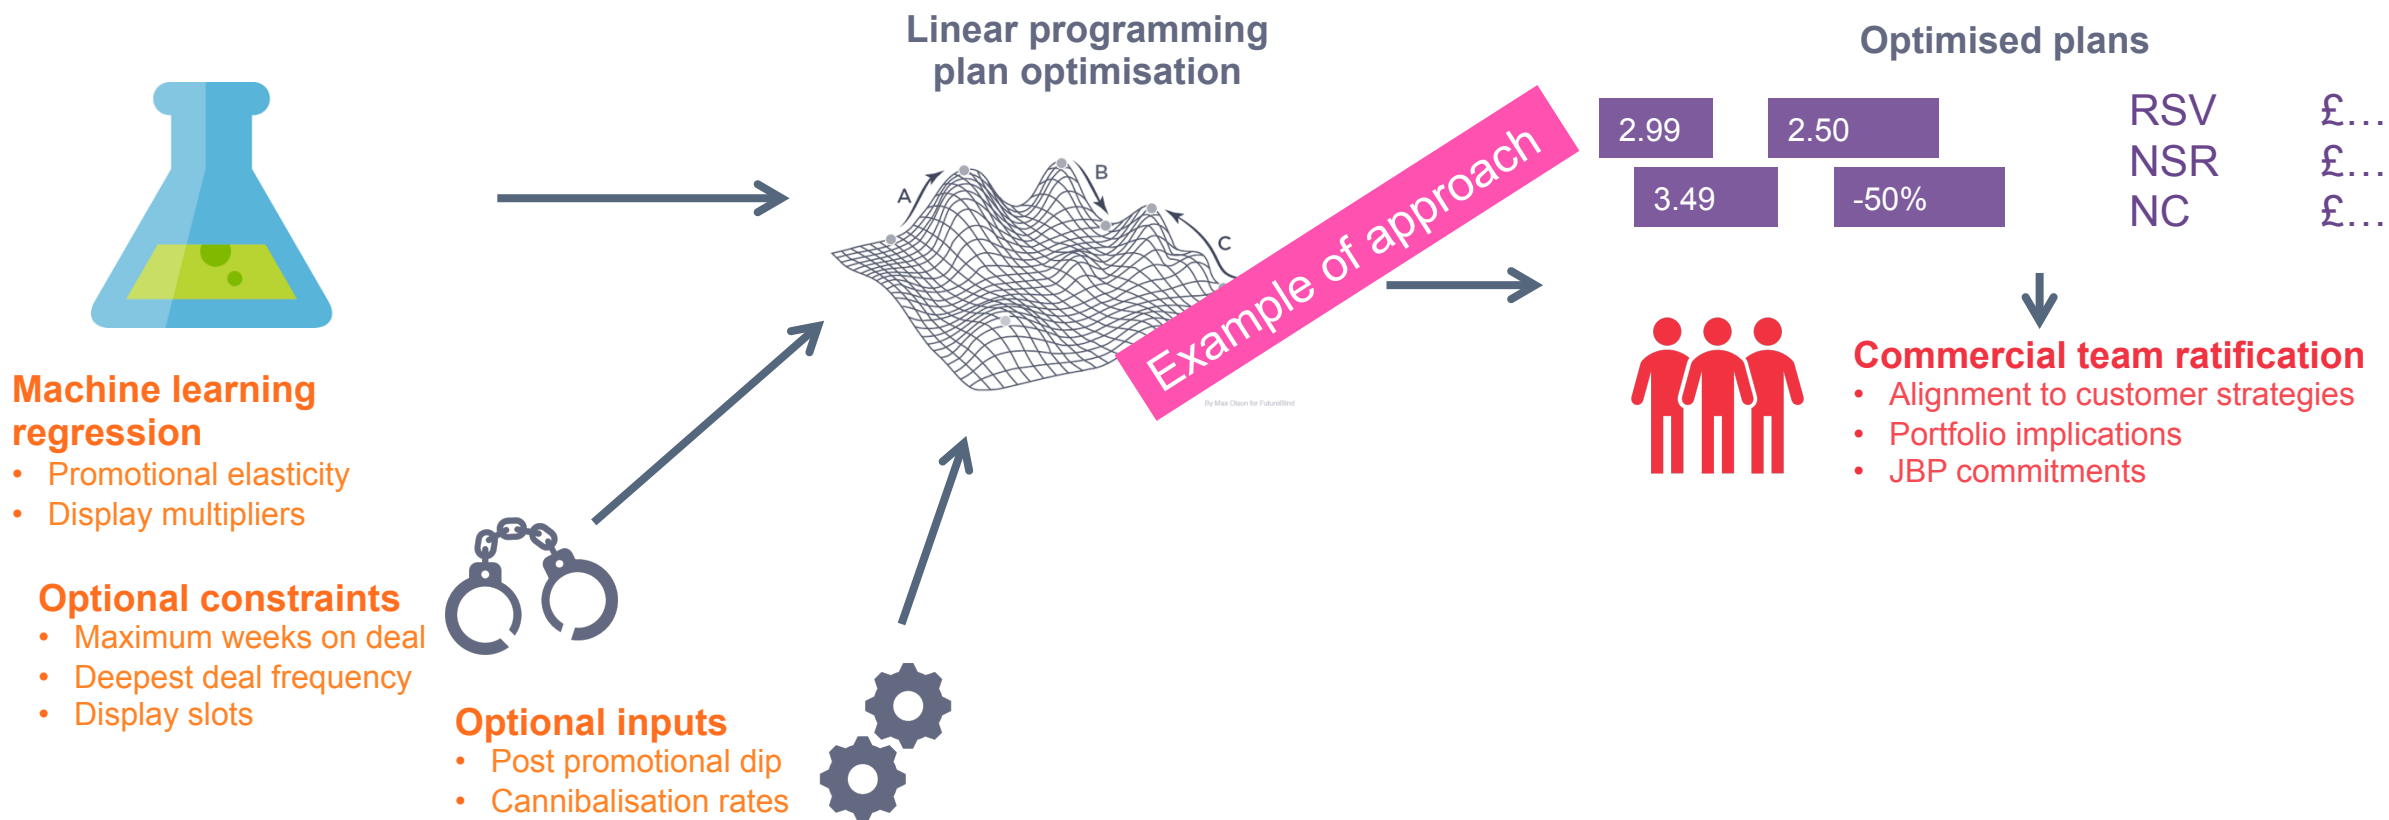

The Invest platform is continuing to develop to drive best practice RGM agendas for our clients

Premier Foods X acumen

With so many consistent data sources, we plan for our clients to be able to use a modular RGM platform

Leveraging the latest machine learning & AI technology to drive winning plans in FMCG

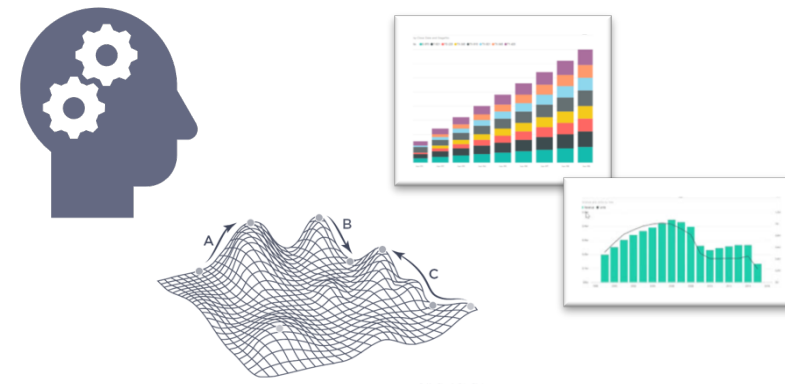

Based on the work we have done, we are also seeing more opportunities for collaboration between suppliers & retailers

Agreeing promotional plans in a more collaborative way, based on metrics for both parties

Combining resources to leverage data to build the most effective plans for customer & supplier

Automating communications between machines on both sides, to increase efficiency
